About us

The Section of Studies in Modern Languages for Interpreters and Translators (SSLMIT) is part of the Department of Legal, Language, Translation and Interpreting Studies (IUSLIT), but it was established as a specialised school for translators and interpreters in the 1950s. The teaching and research activities of SSLMIT include translation and interpreting, language and linguistics, literary and critical studies. Teaching has a practical orientation and it is attentive to the needs of the market. SSLMIT offers a Bachelor's Degree in Applied Interlinguistic Communication (Comunicazione Interlinguistica Applicata), a Bachelor's Degree in Interlinguistic Communication Applied to Legal Professions (Comunicazione Interlinguistica Applicata alle Professioni Giuridiche), and a Master's Degree in Specialised Translation and Conference Interpreting (Traduzione Specialistica e Interpretazione di Conferenza) where students can choose between a curriculum in specialised translation (which includes literary translation and liaison interpreting), or a curriculum in conference interpreting (which includes simultaneous and consecutive interpreting).

6 reasons to study in Trieste

- A border town! Trieste is not too far from Venice and it is also close to Austria, Slovenia and Croatia.
- Not too big, not too small: Trieste is perfect for students! It offers many activities in an international atmosphere.
- On the seaside but just a few steps away from the mountains: the perfect place to study in a relaxed atmosphere.
- Rich in science, history and culture, Trieste is a town that will enchant you!
- City of science and higher education (SISSA, MIB, ICTP).
- Last but not least, cinemas, theatres and night life with special prices for students!

ESN Erasmus Student Network

Founded in February 2002, ESN Trieste is a Student Association which provides effective help for more than 250 International students per year. It is on volunteer basis and its members work hard, moved only by the passion for internationality. ESN organizes welcome days, tandem meetings, regular trips in Italy and abroad, and night events in the most popular places in the city. Find more on: www.esntrieste.it

Do you want to study another language?

Then CLA is waiting for you!
